to all college activities is the Student Leadership Council. Members of the Student Affairs forum get together weekly in the interests of student life on campus, and floor meetings provide monthly consideration of problems and suggestions. SAF members and elected delegates met in the fourth biennial Student Congress held the weekend of April 10-12. At the basis of all this activity is the honor system, the backbone of student government at Clarke.

A FULL CIRCLE OF SAF MEMBERS are (clockwise) Mary Jeanne Rhomberg, Patricia Donohue, Cynthia Craemer, Mary Jane Orban, Barbara Rastatter, Rosalie Sullivan, Margaret Drey, Ruth Dunbar, Mary Murphy, Dorothy Culhane, Peggy Fox, Patricia Spaight, Rose Marie Roth, Patricia Guay, Carole Donovan, Carol Dammann, Phyllis Sinda and Jane Flynn.

COMPLETE SAF includes (above) Darlyne Barnes, Carol Peterson, Patricia Browne, Judy Dunham, Colleen McGinty, Jeanette Halbach, Patricia Murphy, Kay Hoffman, Patricia Evans, Jerry Adams; (seated) Patricia Tegeler, Jane Calkins, and Jean Mason.

TAKING THE FLOOR (below) at this meeting of first floor west and cloister in the residence hall is Patricia Johann (right), who offers a comment on housing conditions.

Although promoting the concert-lecture series is its principal activity, the Board is always available to correspond with prospective students and to act as their campus guides during preliminary visits to Clarke. Members of the Board (left) are Rose Marie Roth, chairman, Mary Jo Howerter, Patricia Murray, Patricia Kilday, and Betty Neville.

the singiest people in the school are those in the Glee Club, who join with Loras students to present operettas like ROBIN HOOD, and celebrate later with a party for cast and crews. Music lovers gather in the Cecilian Circle throughout the year, mark senior recitals as big events on the musical calendar.

for problems

local, national, or international—the Social Science club either knows or pledges to come up with an answer. Among the items considered this year was the Ike-Adlai campaign, a prelude to November 4th voting. Later, minority groups held the attention of a majority of listeners at an open meeting. Lastly, members discussed the Schuman Plan, along with Newsweek majors from Loras.

OFFICERS of the Social Science club are Patricia Smith, treasurer; Helenrose Pearson, vice president; Colleen McGinty, president; Elayne Dowd, secretary.

and Press Club members are Clarke inseparables. Paneling or partying, they're sure to choose the right feature at the right time. Guests at their first open meeting sampled both when a panel discussion on Newman marked the centenary of his IDEA OF A UNIVERSITY. At the April discussion panelists analyzed Communist influences in the American press. The year's end brought good news to all members: a picnic at Eagle Point Park.

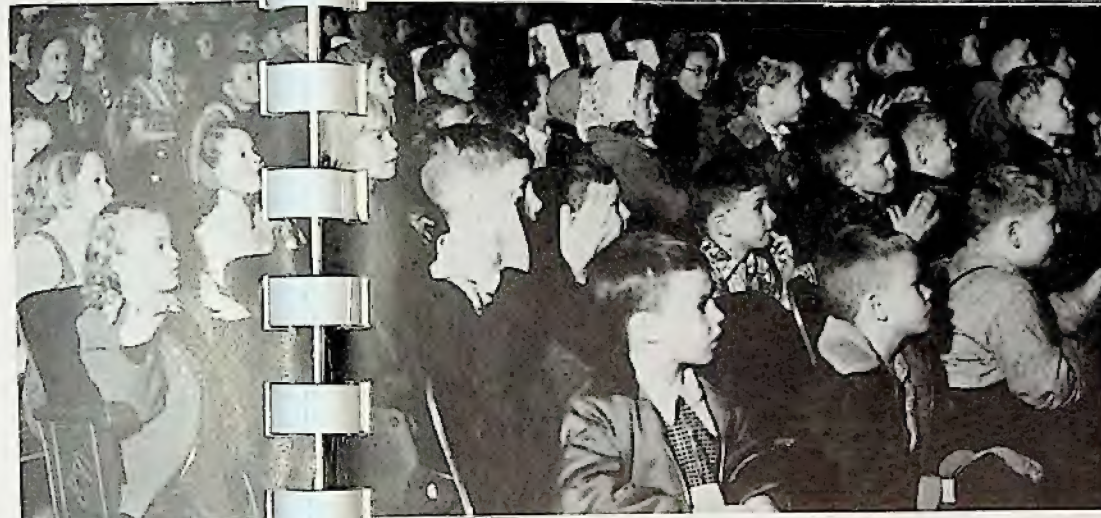

POWER OF THE PRESS club is in the hands of Ann O'Hara, vice president; June Kuba, secretary; Phyllis Sinda, president; and Mary Alice McCarville, treasurer.

curtain call—on stage

arena style, or book in hand, the Clarke College Players turn in their usual star performances. Dubuque small fry save pennies to see the annual children's play (this year, THE WIZARD OF OZ). With equal glee their elders await productions like the Russian comedy, TOVARICH, and the hilarious whodunit, RAMSHACKLE INN.

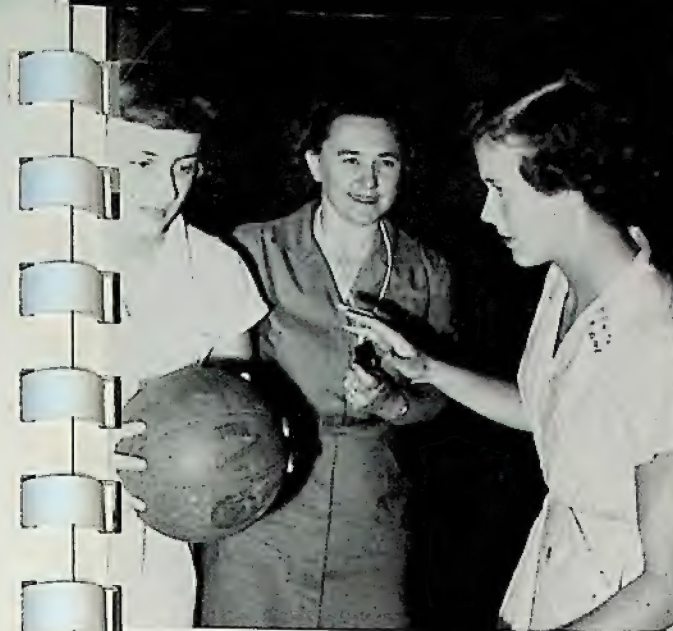

BASKETBALL ALL-STARS: Marilyn Fifield, Benita Kane, Jeannine Wadoz, Dorothy Olsen, Regina Reagan, Madonna McClimon, Jocelyn Halbach, Eleanor Lynch, Rosalie Sullivan, Mary Ann Kane.

WAA PLANNING is the concern of Kathleen Morrison, president; Joy Conlon, treasurer; Jerry Adams, secretary; Joanne Joynt, vice president.

sports specialists

enjoy a wide range of athletic activities provided by Clarke's recreational program. If you can smash a tennis ball accurately across a net, hook a basketball, splash through a team relay in the pool, hit a "homer," or chalk up a strike, you'll find a Clarke championship you can vie for. "Big league" trophies spread themselves out among the classes this year, with the freshmen capturing the basketball cup, the sophomores taking the volleyball trophy, and the juniors keeping the swimming award.

BASKET BOUND, this ball's a sure-fire scorer. Players are Jeannine Wadoz, Dorothy Olsen, Benita Kane, and Mary Ann Kane.

CHALKING UP their championship scores in the Clarke-Loras bowling tourney are Bob Putz, Marice Moylan, Bob Erdl, and Nancy Kneeland.

HOMEcomings HOPEFULS, who were named candidates for the title of Loras Homecoming Queen, are (front) Ruth Dunbar, Patricia Donohue, Phyllis Sinda; (back) Joan Madden, Kitty Wormley, Kathy Bahl, (the winner), Mary Jeanne Rhomberg, and Peggy Fox.

fox trot time

began in September with the tuckpointer-freshman mixer, continued in October, thanks to the Loras Delta Sigma dance and to Homecoming, when Kathy Bahl reigned as queen with Kitty Wormley in her court. Two weeks later we walked the ocean floor at the Sophomore Soiree and gazed upward at the fabulous deep-sea fish which dominated "La Mer." February and Friday the 13th brought the Junior Prom, where we waltzed in a themeless (but not dreamless) atmosphere. When unlucky SPIRES photographers suffered from camera failure, the annual staff staged a junior Junior Prom for picture retakes. But, what's more fun than proms! And so we looked forward to the Loras Prom on May 1 and the final Clarke Senior Prom on May 8.

A GOOD REVIEW brings smiles to the faces of the cast of "Jenny Kissed Me," Loras comedy. Actors included Leo Carroll, famous stage and screen star, and Clarkites Bernadette Dreyer, Cynthia Craemer, Donna Koppi, Kathy Bahl, Barbara Conlin, Patricia Donohue, and Mary Dalton.

IN COSTUME: the Don Cossack Chorus, one of the concert-lecture series' biggest hits.

learning's not confined to the classroom at Clarke. The Student Leadership Council and various school clubs bring top artists and lecturers to the campus. For "quiet" evenings at home, something's always doing—whether it's listening to good music, attending a club meeting, or dissecting modern art.

one hundred ten

SURREALISM gets a very real going-over from Mr. Robert Leader in his lecture series on contemporary art.

FRIENDSHIP HOUSE comes to Clarke in the person of national director Betty Schneider, talking here with Mary Murphy, Patricia Brown, Mary Jo Howcrtter, and Helenrose Pearson.

one hundred eleven

SUNFLOWER BRIGHT: Patricia Deming's hat and smile.

VERY SPORTING: Margie Keane and young campaigner in ski suits.

Fashions

in Focus

"Runway" doesn't suggest airplanes at Clarke since the era of the style show began. Instead it brings to mind tea time music, a circle of spotlight, a quick swirl of organdy. "Model" students, chosen by their classmates, parade fashions for the benefit of the NFCCS overseas scholarship fund.

TOPSIDE: two versions—on Joanne Grewell and Patricia Smith.

ELEGANT TOUCH of fur accents the simplicity of Patricia Guay's coat.

WINSOME: Phyllis Sinda models date-time crimson taffeta.

WALTZ-LENGTH white lace is Joan Madden's dance choice.

are Jane Calkins, Rosalie Sullivan, Betty Neville, Mary Jane Orban, and (front) Dorothy Culhane. In addition to their degrees, they carried home membership keys in national scholastic honor societies. Elected to membership in Delta Epsilon Sigma, Rho chapter, were Miss Calkins, Miss Sullivan, Miss Neville, and Miss Culhane. Miss Culhane was also elected to membership in Kappa Gamma Pi, national scholastic and activities honor society of Catholic women's colleges. Miss Orban became a member of the Delta chapter of Delta Mu Theta, national Catholic music honor society.

on Seminary hill brought hundreds of alumnae back to their Alma Mater to enjoy each other's company while attending their biennial convention. "Linking the Present with the Past," current Clarkites telescoped typical Clarke activities in a skit written especially for their important weekend visitors. Christmastime occasioned the alumnae-senior tea, and spring saw the seniors formally accepted into the association.

CHRISTMAS TEA is poured by Patricia Mullen for Jeanette Valenti while Joanne Roling and Monsignor Luby exchange holiday chat.

LAUGHS GALORE come as dance contestants swing it. The occasion: all-school Founder's Day picnic at Eagle Point Park.

BLOW, GABRIEL! Peggy Fox entertains picnickers as requests fly fast.

MIDTERM GRAD, Agnes Yui of Nagoya, Japan, is guest of honor at a special senior dinner.

and some have a couple. Sophomores serenade the diamond circle on St. Valentine's day, presenting each engaged Clarkite with a red, red rose. To honor St. Patrick, freshmen take their turn at entertaining—maybe with a yankee version of "MacNamara's Band." Whatever the class, whatever the day, the whole school's bound to enjoy the festivity.

MACNAMARA'S BAND: Suzanne Kelly, Carol White, Kathleen Sullivan, Sara McAlpin, Nancy Kneeland, Patricia Dietzler, Ann White, Cathy Aplington.

TEA FOR FIVE: Jeanette Halbach pours for Patricia Goff, Jane Maudsley, Dorothy Olsen, and Charlotte Major at the honor pledge tea.

TINSEL-TIME brings seniors to the residence hall drawing room to decorate "their" tree.

CONVERSING short-distance are Jacquelyn Matkey and gentleman caller as Margie Costello helps her young man unwrap his gift.

CANDLELIGHT AND HOLLY provide Christmas banquet atmosphere for formal diners Mary Lee Steimel, Dorothy Olsen, Patricia Murphy, and Patricia Santos.

partying is fun

especially when everyone's in a holiday mood. Seniors decked the activity room with boughs of holly and hosted a party for the orphans. To entertain older guests from the other hill, they switched to cards. Santa also made the rounds of the other classes, being particularly prompt for the sophomore party. Then 'twas the night before Christmas vacation with its formal banquet, its hilarious Night Owl hijinks, and finally—packing for home.

One hundred and thirty-six empty pages ago, we began the story of our year at Clarke. Choosing Newman as a guide, we toured the campus, realizing over and over how much it means to go to a Catholic woman's college.

Now we are back—not where we started—but back to a new beginning. Many of us will be living another year at Clarke, not exactly the same, though in the same spirit. For some of us, of course, there was Commencement. But that end, too, is a beginning.

Just now we can't resist looking back at our year and our record of it. We were right when we thought two covers couldn't hold all the things we wanted to remember. That's why we're grateful for this epilogue. Like the speaker at the end of a banquet, we here have a chance to thank all the people who weren't around when the pictures were taken—the rest of the faculty, the college administrators, the health staff, the numerous campus personnel.

Most especially, we want to thank the dean, Sister Mary Crescentia, and our advisers, Sister Mary Roberdette, Sister Mary Xavier, Sister Mary Lucilda, Sister Mary Martinita, Sister Mary Michail, Sister Mary Ann Pauline, Sister Mary Carolanne, Sister Mary Howard, and Sister Mary Jeanne Therese. Without their unfailing interest and encouragement, this year could never have been the successful, happy time it was.

Together, we shaped this year—this book. Looking back on it now, we see, with satisfaction, that it has been good. For all that it was and for all that it will be, we thank finally that One who remains always our single point of reference, since —

Time past and time future
What might have been and what has been Point to one end, which is always present.
(T.S. Eliot, Four Quartets)
